

Dramatic Contests Will be Staged Here

Local Organization To Present a Series of Plays.

For some time there has been a growing demand for a non-denominational adult dramatic society in Redcliff. To avoid the difficulty in making an equitable settlement of proceeds from such an organization, a series of dramatic contests will be staged throughout the winter months under the control of a central committee. The first will be held in the Cameo theatre early in November. Any local organization may enter the competition. Attention is called to the following regulations: 1. Each play presented must not be shorter than 20 minutes and not longer than 45 minutes. 2. No more than three entries can be accepted for any one competition, but additional applicants will be given priority for future events. 3. Competitors must submit the play they propose to present, to the central committee, for approval. In the case of the November competition this must be done by October 17. This will guarantee to local theatre-goers that they are going to see only plays of the highest order. 4. Judges from Medicine Hat will decide the winners and their decision will be considered final. 5. Proceeds will be divided as follows: If two entries, winners 60%, other 40%; if three entries, winners 40%, others 20% each. Only the winners will be mentioned by the judges.

There are two entries already filed for the November competition. The St. Ambrose Church Dramatic Society and Gordon Memorial Church. Contestants may cast on the conveyer or at any time for suggest; no selection of play, caste, direction, make-up, etc. Each organization, however, will be responsible for its own stage setting and prompting.

Here is a chance for all those in town interested in dramatics, to become attached to one or other of the organizations taking part. Each play will be a one-act presentation and, consequently, will not be difficult to produce. Regular coaching will be given to all clubs who desire assistance, and great benefit should be derived from the training. As a social pastime during the winter months amateur dramatics has no equal.

It is advisable for all organizations interested to organize a regular club with a committee for the selection of the best possible talent. It is hoped that the competition will foster a spirit of friendly rivalry and at the same time give the theatre-goers of Redcliff a dramatic treat of a high order. Incidentally the local organizations taking part will benefit financially. The Red Cross Society hopes to put in an entry to one or more of these competitions and to raise funds for distribution among the needy in town this winter.

It will be a unique affair—the cinema of Redcliff talent all out to demonstrate their histrionic ability; citizens out to an immense show; their families, friends, and the records all going towards making Redcliff a

To Move Stockers To Feed Farms

Weir Scheme Aims to Be of Marketing Assistance

A three-fold plan by which farmers in the section suffering from drought might be aided in marketing their cattle by means of a reduction of 50 per cent in the freight rate to them, was outlined by Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture. The Minister of Agriculture for Ontario was quoted as saying there was a big demand for Alberta cattle and that Ontario was prepared to handle at least another 100,000 feeder cattle from western Canada. It was to fill this demand, said Mr. Weir, that an arrangement of some sort had been thought advisable by the Federal Government.

The first phase of the plan, he said, was to help farmers and ranchers in dried out districts to send their cattle to feeder farms in the east. 50 per cent of the freight cost being assumed by the federal government. Second, a similar percentage of freight costs would be assumed by the government in the shipping of the finished cattle from the feeder farms to the seaboard.

Thirdly the Ontario government was conducting negotiations whereby it would secure from western Canada a shipment of 2,500 feeder steers for distribution among the junior farm clubs of Ontario. These animals would be handled through the Beef Producers' Council, said the minister of agriculture.

Lauds Abandonment Of Gold Standard

Noted Economist Addresses A Meeting in Medicine Hat

"Gold is no longer a proper measure of value for money and it is time for all of us to realize that the gold standard has ceased to be of any real utility in our commercial life," declared B. K. Sandwell, noted Canadian writer, economist and lecturer, when addressing a joint luncheon of the Rotary and Canadian Clubs in Medicine Hat last Monday noon.

Taking as his subject "Currency and the Gold Standard," Mr. Sandwell pointed out that the chief meaning of this standard had been rendered more acute by the recent action of the British government in abandoning their gold standard as a depression measure.

The speaker pointed out that the general conception of the effects of this action was a vague and erroneous one and that in reality we ought to be thankful that the government of Great Britain had detached its currency from the gold standard.

The total amount of gold now available in the world for use as money was roughly eleven billion of American dollars, he said. At the present time the United States alone controlled five billions, France nearly three billions, neither of these nations being the primary commercial power among modern nations.

Thus all the other nations, Mr. Sandwell explained, were left with only three billions to transact their business with two nations which together controlled roughly eight billions of the supply.

The speaker drew attention to the fact that it was the cornering of the gold supply by two nations which was the basic of the present world depression as distinguished from the ordinary periodic rise and fall of the business cycle.

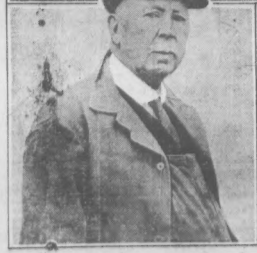

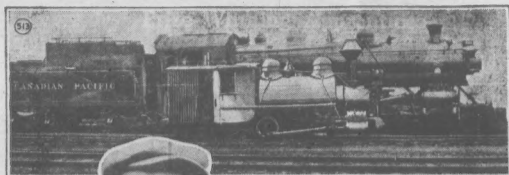

Mr. Sandwell also stated that according to the repatriation treaty Great Britain and her allies were expected to pay twenty-two billions spread over a period of years and there were only eleven billions in gold in the world with which to pay it.

TO ASSIST FARMERS TO GET COCKERELS

Alberta farmers who wish to take advantage of the cockerel distribution policy of the federal department of agriculture should take steps at once towards them. The season for the distribution of breeding males is now at hand and by securing birds early a much better selection will be possible. Under the cockerel distribution policy the federal government pays transportation costs and one-third of the bird cost, with a maximum of five dollars. The purpose of the policy is to assist in the distribution of good breeding stock among the farms of the country in order to improve the production qualities and to lower production costs on the farm.

It now appears to be almost certain that the British general election will be held this month.

THE GIANT AND THE DWARF

Overshadowed by the tons of steel making up the monster that has succeeded it, "Curly," as the engine is still affectionately known among veteran railwaymen, stands alongside a modern Canadian Pacific locomotive and measures only as long as the latter's cab and tender. Nevertheless, "Curly," that lefty-funnelled wood-burner of pioneer days, can claim a record seldom approached anywhere in the world for long life, hardiness and endurance. "Curly" was brought to British Columbia in 1871 and W. H. (Bill) Evans (last), engineer of the first Canadian Pacific passenger train to reach Fort Moody in 1888, says it was built in a San Francisco machine shop and later aided Count de Lesseps in the Panama Canal region and to maintain construction work in Peru. Sixty years of arduous work left their mark on "Curly," but now the engine after a thorough refitting at the Canadian Pacific Vancouver shops, is to be exhibited at the Vancouver Exhibition August, as a museum piece of the early days.

Bill Evans was called out of retirement for purpose of this performance and during the old overalls again to show himself once more in harness alongside "Curly."
